TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR USE, REPRODUCTION, AND DISTRIBUTION

1. Definitions.

"License" shall mean the terms and conditions for use, reproduction, and distribution as defined by Sections 1 through 9 of this document.

"Licensor" shall mean the copyright owner or entity authorized by the copyright owner that is granting the License.

"Legal Entity" shall mean the union of the acting entity and all other entities that control, are controlled by, or are under common control with that entity. For the purposes of this definition, "control" means (i) the power, direct or indirect, to cause the direction or management of such entity, whether by contract or otherwise, or (ii) ownership of fifty percent (50%) or more of the outstanding shares, or (iii) beneficial ownership of such entity.

"You" (or "Your") shall mean an individual or Legal Entity exercising permissions granted by this License.

"Source" form shall mean the preferred form for making modifications, including but not limited to software source code, documentation source, and configuration files.

"Object" form shall mean any form resulting from mechanical transformation or translation of a Source form, including but not limited to compiled object code, generated documentation, and conversions to other media types.

"Work" shall mean the work of authorship, whether in Source or Object form, made available under the License, as indicated by a copyright notice that is included in or attached to the work (an example is provided in the Appendix below).

"Derivative Works" shall mean any work, whether in Source or Object form, that is based on (or derived from) the Work and for which the editorial revisions, annotations, elaborations, or other modifications represent, as a whole, an original work of authorship. For the purposes of this License, Derivative Works shall not include works that remain separable from, or merely link (or bind by name) to the interfaces of, the Work and Derivative Works thereof.

"Contribution" shall mean any work of authorship, including the original version of the Work and any modifications or additions to that Work or Derivative Works thereof, that is intentionally submitted to Licensor for inclusion in the Work by the copyright owner or by an individual or Legal Entity authorized to submit on behalf of the copyright owner. For the purposes of this definition, "submitted" means any form of electronic, verbal, or written communication sent to the Licensor or its representatives, including but not limited to communication on electronic mailing lists, source code control systems, and issue tracking systems that are managed by, or on behalf of, the Licensor for the purpose of discussing and improving the Work, but excluding communication that is conspicuously marked or otherwise designated in writing by the copyright owner as "Not a Contribution."

"Contributor" shall mean Licensor and any individual or Legal Entity on behalf of whom a Contribution has been received by Licensor and subsequently incorporated within the Work.

2. Grant of Copyright License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable copyright license to reproduce, prepare Derivative Works of, publicly display, publicly perform, sublicense, and distribute the Work and such Derivative Works in Source or Object form.
3. Grant of Patent License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable (except as stated in this section) patent license to make, have made, use, offer to sell, sell, import, and otherwise transfer the Work, where such license applies only to those patent claims licensable by such Contributor that are necessarily infringed by their Contribution(s) alone or by combination of their Contribution(s) with the Work to which such Contribution(s) was submitted. If You institute patent litigation against any entity (including a cross-claim or counterclaim in a lawsuit) alleging that the Work or a Contribution incorporated within the Work constitutes direct or contributory patent infringement, then any patent licenses granted to You under this License for that Work shall terminate as of the date such litigation is filed.
4. Redistribution. You may reproduce and distribute copies of the Work or Derivative Works thereof in any medium, with or without modifications, and in Source or Object form, provided that You meet the following conditions:
  - (a) You must give any other recipients of the Work or Derivative Works a copy of this License; and
  - (b) You must cause any modified files to carry prominent notices stating that You changed the files; and
  - (c) You must retain, in the Source form of any Derivative Works that You distribute, all copyright, patent, trademark, and attribution notices from the Source form of the Work, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works; and
  - (d) If the Work includes a "NOTICE" text file as part of its distribution, then any Derivative Works that You distribute must include a readable copy of the attribution notices contained within such NOTICE file, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works, in at least one of the following places: within a NOTICE text file distributed as part of the Derivative Works; within the Source form or documentation, if provided along with the Derivative Works; or, within a display generated by the Derivative Works, if and wherever such third-party notices normally appear. The contents of the NOTICE file are for informational purposes only and do not modify the License. You may add Your own attribution notices within Derivative Works that You distribute, alongside or as an addendum to the NOTICE text from the Work, provided that such additional attribution notices cannot be construed as modifying the License.

You may add Your own copyright statement to Your modifications and may provide additional or different license terms and conditions for use, reproduction, or distribution of Your modifications, or for any such Derivative Works as a whole, provided Your use, reproduction, and distribution of the Work otherwise complies with the conditions stated in this License.

5. Submission of Contributions. Unless You explicitly state otherwise, any Contribution intentionally submitted for inclusion in the Work by You to the Licensor shall be under the terms and conditions of this License, without any additional terms or conditions.

Notwithstanding the above, nothing herein shall supersede or modify the terms of any separate license agreement you may have executed with Licensor regarding such Contributions.

6. Trademarks. This License does not grant permission to use the trade names, trademarks, service marks, or product names of the Licensor, except as required for reasonable and customary use in describing the origin of the Work and reproducing the content of the NOTICE file.

7. Disclaimer of Warranty. Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, Licensor provides the Work (and each Contributor provides its Contributions) on an "AS IS" BASIS, WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied, including, without limitation, any warranties or conditions of TITLE, NON-INFRINGEMENT, MERCHANTABILITY, or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. You are solely responsible for determining the appropriateness of using or redistributing the Work and assume any risks associated with Your exercise of permissions under this License.

8. Limitation of Liability. In no event and under no legal theory, whether in tort (including negligence), contract, or otherwise, unless required by applicable law (such as deliberate and grossly negligent acts) or agreed to in writing, shall any Contributor be liable to You for damages, including any direct, indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages of any character arising as a result of this License or out of the use or inability to use the Work (including but not limited to damages for loss of goodwill, work stoppage, computer failure or malfunction, or any and all other commercial damages or losses), even if such Contributor has been advised of the possibility of such damages.

9. Accepting Warranty or Additional Liability. While redistributing the Work or Derivative Works thereof, You may choose to offer, and charge a fee for, acceptance of support, warranty, indemnity, or other liability obligations and/or rights consistent with this License. However, in accepting such obligations, You may act only on Your own behalf and on Your sole responsibility, not on behalf of any other Contributor, and only if You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold each Contributor harmless for any liability incurred by, or claims asserted against, such Contributor by reason of your accepting any such warranty or additional liability.

"Work" shall mean the work of authorship, whether in Source or Object form, made available under the License, as indicated by a copyright notice that is included in or attached to the work (an example is provided in the Appendix below).

"Derivative Works" shall mean any work, whether in Source or Object form, that is based on (or derived from) the Work and for which the editorial revisions, annotations, elaborations, or other modifications represent, as a whole, an original work of authorship. For the purposes of this License, Derivative Works shall not include works that remain separable from, or merely link (or bind by name) to the interfaces of, the Work and Derivative Works thereof.

"Contribution" shall mean any work of authorship, including the original version of the Work and any modifications or additions to that Work or Derivative Works thereof, that is intentionally submitted to Licensor for inclusion in the Work by the copyright owner or by an individual or Legal Entity authorized to submit on behalf of the copyright owner. For the purposes of this definition, "submitted" means any form of electronic, verbal, or written communication sent to the Licensor or its representatives, including but not limited to communication on electronic mailing lists, source code control systems, and issue tracking systems that are managed by, or on behalf of, the Licensor for the purpose of discussing and improving the Work, but excluding communication that is conspicuously marked or otherwise designated in writing by the copyright owner as "Not a Contribution."

"Contributor" shall mean Licensor and any individual or Legal Entity on behalf of whom a Contribution has been received by Licensor and subsequently incorporated within the Work.

2. Grant of Copyright License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable copyright license to reproduce, prepare Derivative Works of, publicly display, publicly perform, sublicense, and distribute the Work and such Derivative Works in Source or Object form.

3. Grant of Patent License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable (except as stated in this section) patent license to make, have made, use, offer to sell, sell, import, and otherwise transfer the Work, where such license applies only to those patent claims licensable by such Contributor that are necessarily infringed by their Contribution(s) alone or by combination of their Contribution(s) with the Work to which such Contribution(s) was submitted. If You institute patent litigation against any entity (including a cross-claim or counterclaim in a lawsuit) alleging that the Work or a Contribution incorporated within the Work constitutes direct or contributory patent infringement, then any patent licenses granted to You under this License for that Work shall terminate as of the date such litigation is filed.

4. Redistribution. You may reproduce and distribute copies of the Work or Derivative Works thereof in any medium, with or without modifications, and in Source or Object form, provided that You meet the following conditions:
  - (a) You must give any other recipients of the Work or Derivative Works a copy of this License; and

  - (b) You must cause any modified files to carry prominent notices stating that You changed the files; and

  - (c) You must retain, in the Source form of any Derivative Works that You distribute, all copyright, patent, trademark, and attribution notices from the Source form of the Work, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works; and

  - (d) If the Work includes a "NOTICE" text file as part of its distribution, then any Derivative Works that You distribute must include a readable copy of the attribution notices contained within such NOTICE file, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works, in at least one of the following places: within a NOTICE text file distributed as part of the Derivative Works; within the Source form or documentation, if provided along with the Derivative Works; or, within a display generated by the Derivative Works, if and wherever such third-party notices normally appear. The contents of the NOTICE file are for informational purposes only and do not modify the License. You may add Your own attribution notices within Derivative Works that You distribute, alongside or as an addendum to the NOTICE text from the Work, provided that such additional attribution notices cannot be construed as modifying the License.

You may add Your own copyright statement to Your modifications and may provide additional or different license terms and conditions for use, reproduction, or distribution of Your modifications, or for any such Derivative Works as a whole, provided Your use, reproduction, and distribution of the Work otherwise complies with the conditions stated in this License.

5. Submission of Contributions. Unless You explicitly state otherwise, any Contribution intentionally submitted for inclusion in the Work by You to the Licensor shall be under the terms and conditions of this License, without any additional terms or conditions. Notwithstanding the above, nothing herein shall supersede or modify the terms of any separate license agreement you may have executed with Licensor regarding such Contributions.
6. Trademarks. This License does not grant permission to use the trade names, trademarks, service marks, or product names of the Licensor, except as required for reasonable and customary use in describing the origin of the Work and reproducing the content of the NOTICE file.
7. Disclaimer of Warranty. Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, Licensor provides the Work (and each Contributor provides its Contributions) on an "AS IS" BASIS, WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied, including, without limitation, any warranties or conditions of TITLE, NON-INFRINGEMENT, MERCHANTABILITY, or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. You are solely responsible for determining the appropriateness of using or redistributing the Work and assume any risks associated with Your exercise of permissions under this License.
8. Limitation of Liability. In no event and under no legal theory, whether in tort (including negligence), contract, or otherwise, unless required by applicable law (such as deliberate and grossly negligent acts) or agreed to in writing, shall any Contributor be liable to You for damages, including any direct, indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages of any character arising as a result of this License or out of the use or inability to use the Work (including but not limited to damages for loss of goodwill, work stoppage, computer failure or malfunction, or any and all other commercial damages or losses), even if such Contributor has been advised of the possibility of such damages.
9. Accepting Warranty or Additional Liability. While redistributing the Work or Derivative Works thereof, You may choose to offer, and charge a fee for, acceptance of support, warranty, indemnity, or other liability obligations and/or rights consistent with this License. However, in accepting such obligations, You may act only on Your own behalf and on Your sole responsibility, not on behalf of any other Contributor, and only if You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold each Contributor harmless for any liability incurred by, or claims asserted against, such Contributor by reason of your accepting any such warranty or additional liability.

"Source" form shall mean the preferred form for making modifications, including but not limited to software source code, documentation source, and configuration files.

"Object" form shall mean any form resulting from mechanical transformation or translation of a Source form, including but not limited to compiled object code, generated documentation, and conversions to other media types.

"Work" shall mean the work of authorship, whether in Source or Object form, made available under the License, as indicated by a copyright notice that is included in or attached to the work (an example is provided in the Appendix below).

"Derivative Works" shall mean any work, whether in Source or Object form, that is based on (or derived from) the Work and for which the editorial revisions, annotations, elaborations, or other modifications represent, as a whole, an original work of authorship. For the purposes of this License, Derivative Works shall not include works that remain separable from, or merely link (or bind by name) to the interfaces of, the Work and Derivative Works thereof.

"Contribution" shall mean any work of authorship, including the original version of the Work and any modifications or additions to that Work or Derivative Works thereof, that is intentionally submitted to Licensor for inclusion in the Work by the copyright owner or by an individual or Legal Entity authorized to submit on behalf of the copyright owner. For the purposes of this definition, "submitted" means any form of electronic, verbal, or written communication sent to the Licensor or its representatives, including but not limited to communication on electronic mailing lists, source code control systems, and issue tracking systems that are managed by, or on behalf of, the Licensor for the purpose of discussing and improving the Work, but excluding communication that is conspicuously marked or otherwise designated in writing by the copyright owner as "Not a Contribution."

"Contributor" shall mean Licensor and any individual or Legal Entity on behalf of whom a Contribution has been received by Licensor and subsequently incorporated within the Work.

2. Grant of Copyright License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable copyright license to reproduce, prepare Derivative Works of, publicly display, publicly perform, sublicense, and distribute the Work and such Derivative Works in Source or Object form.
3. Grant of Patent License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable (except as stated in this section) patent license to make, have made, use, offer to sell, sell, import, and otherwise transfer the Work, where such license applies only to those patent claims licensable by such Contributor that are necessarily infringed by their Contribution(s) alone or by combination of their Contribution(s) with the Work to which such Contribution(s) was submitted. If You institute patent litigation against any entity (including a cross-claim or counterclaim in a lawsuit) alleging that the Work or a Contribution incorporated within the Work constitutes direct or contributory patent infringement, then any patent licenses granted to You under this License for that Work shall terminate as of the date such litigation is filed.

4. Redistribution. You may reproduce and distribute copies of the Work or Derivative Works thereof in any medium, with or without modifications, and in Source or Object form, provided that You meet the following conditions:

- (a) You must give any other recipients of the Work or Derivative Works a copy of this License; and
- (b) You must cause any modified files to carry prominent notices stating that You changed the files; and
- (c) You must retain, in the Source form of any Derivative Works that You distribute, all copyright, patent, trademark, and attribution notices from the Source form of the Work, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works; and
- (d) If the Work includes a "NOTICE" text file as part of its distribution, then any Derivative Works that You distribute must include a readable copy of the attribution notices contained within such NOTICE file, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works, in at least one of the following places: within a NOTICE text file distributed as part of the Derivative Works; within the Source form or documentation, if provided along with the Derivative Works; or, within a display generated by the Derivative Works, if and wherever such third-party notices normally appear. The contents of the NOTICE file are for informational purposes only and do not modify the License. You may add Your own attribution notices within Derivative Works that You distribute, alongside or as an addendum to the NOTICE text from the Work, provided that such additional attribution notices cannot be construed as modifying the License.

You may add Your own copyright statement to Your modifications and may provide additional or different license terms and conditions for use, reproduction, or distribution of Your modifications, or for any such Derivative Works as a whole, provided Your use, reproduction, and distribution of the Work otherwise complies with the conditions stated in this License.

5. Submission of Contributions. Unless You explicitly state otherwise, any Contribution intentionally submitted for inclusion in the Work by You to the Licensor shall be under the terms and conditions of this License, without any additional terms or conditions.

Notwithstanding the above, nothing herein shall supersede or modify the terms of any separate license agreement you may have executed with Licensor regarding such Contributions.

6. Trademarks. This License does not grant permission to use the trade names, trademarks, service marks, or product names of the Licensor, except as required for reasonable and customary use in describing the origin of the Work and reproducing the content of the NOTICE file.
7. Disclaimer of Warranty. Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, Licensor provides the Work (and each Contributor provides its Contributions) on an "AS IS" BASIS, WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied, including, without limitation, any warranties or conditions of TITLE, NON-INFRINGEMENT, MERCHANTABILITY, or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. You are solely responsible for determining the appropriateness of using or redistributing the Work and assume any risks associated with Your exercise of permissions under this License.
8. Limitation of Liability. In no event and under no legal theory, whether in tort (including negligence), contract, or otherwise, unless required by applicable law (such as deliberate and grossly negligent acts) or agreed to in writing, shall any Contributor be liable to You for damages, including any direct, indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages of any character arising as a result of this License or out of the use or inability to use the Work (including but not limited to damages for loss of goodwill, work stoppage, computer failure or malfunction, or any and all other commercial damages or losses), even if such Contributor has been advised of the possibility of such damages.
9. Accepting Warranty or Additional Liability. While redistributing the Work or Derivative Works thereof, You may choose to offer, and charge a fee for, acceptance of support, warranty, indemnity, or other liability obligations and/or rights consistent with this License. However, in accepting such obligations, You may act only on Your own behalf and on Your sole responsibility, not on behalf of any other Contributor, and only if You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold each Contributor harmless for any liability incurred by, or claims asserted against, such Contributor by reason of your accepting any such warranty or additional liability.

5. Submission of Contributions. Unless You explicitly state otherwise, any Contribution intentionally submitted for inclusion in the Work by You to the Licensor shall be under the terms and conditions of this License, without any additional terms or conditions. Notwithstanding the above, nothing herein shall supersede or modify the terms of any separate license agreement you may have executed with Licensor regarding such Contributions.
6. Trademarks. This License does not grant permission to use the trade names, trademarks, service marks, or product names of the Licensor, except as required for reasonable and customary use in describing the origin of the Work and reproducing the content of the NOTICE file.
7. Disclaimer of Warranty. Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, Licensor provides the Work (and each Contributor provides its Contributions) on an "AS IS" BASIS, WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied, including, without limitation, any warranties or conditions of TITLE, NON-INFRINGEMENT, MERCHANTABILITY, or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. While redistributing the Work or Derivative Works thereof, You may choose to offer, and charge a fee for, acceptance of support, warranty, indemnity, or other liability obligations and/or rights consistent with this License. However, in accepting such obligations, You may act only on Your own behalf and on Your sole responsibility, not on behalf of any other Contributor, and only if You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold each Contributor harmless for any liability incurred by, or claims asserted against, such Contributor by reason of your accepting any such warranty or additional liability.

Brad Fitzpatrick, who stayed home from GopherCon this year, was ready and waiting to review all CLs submitted. He was so quick to review that many people thought he was an automated bot. Internally our team is now calling him "BradBot" mostly because we are in awe and a bit jealous.

.image contributor-workshop/image9.jpg

.image contributor-workshop/image6.png

*** Impact

We had a total of 65 CLs submitted from the people who participated in the workshop (within a week of the workshop). Of these, 44 were from contributors who had never previously contributed to any of the repos in the Go project. Half (22) of these contributions were already merged. Many of the others are waiting on the codebase to thaw as we are in the middle of a freeze for the upcoming 1.9 release. In addition to CLs, many contributed to the project in the form of bug reports, [\[\[https://golang.org/wiki/Gardening\]\]](https://golang.org/wiki/Gardening)[\[\[gardening tasks\]\]](#), and other types of contributions.

The most common type of contribution was an example function to be used in the documentation. The [\[\[https://blog.golang.org/survey2016-results\]\]](https://blog.golang.org/survey2016-results)[\[\[Go User survey\]\]](#) identified that our documentation was significantly lacking examples. In the presentation, we asked users to find a package they loved and to add an example. In the Go project, examples are written as code in Go files (with specific naming) and the `go`doc` tool displays them along side the documentation. This is a perfect first contribution as it's something that can be merged during a freeze, it's of critical importance to our users, and it's an addition that has a relatively narrow scope.

One of the examples added is that of creating a Stringer, one of the more widely used interfaces in Go.

[\[\[https://golang.org/cl/49270/\]\]](https://golang.org/cl/49270/)[\[\[CL 49270\]\]](#)

In addition to examples, many people contributed critical bug fixes including:

- [\[\[https://golang.org/cl/48988/\]\]](https://golang.org/cl/48988/)[\[\[CL 48988\]\]](#) fixing [\[\[https://golang.org/issue/21029\]\]](https://golang.org/issue/21029)[\[\[issue #21029\]\]](#)

Some people even surprised us by arriving with a bug in mind that they wanted to fix. Nikhita arrived ready to tackle

[\[\[https://golang.org/issue/20786\]\]](https://golang.org/issue/20786)[\[\[issue #20786\]\]](#)

and she did submitting

[\[\[https://golang.org/cl/48871/\]\]](https://golang.org/cl/48871/)[\[\[CL 48871\]\]](#),

after which she tweeted:

.image contributor-workshop/image19.png

Not only were some great improvements made, but most importantly, we narrowed the gap between the core Go team and the broader community members. Many people on the Go team remarked that the community members were teaching them things about the Go project. People in the community (in person, and on Twitter) remarked that felt welcome to participate in the project.

*** Future

The event was successful well beyond our expectations. Sameer Ajmani, Go team manager said, "The contributor workshop was incredibly fun and educational for the Go team. We cringed as users hit the rough edges in our process, and celebrated when they got up on the dashboard. The cheer when the group score hit 1000 was awesome."

We are looking into ways to make this workshop easier to run for future events (like meetups and conferences). Our biggest challenge is providing enough mentorship so that users feel supported. If you have any ideas or would like to help with this process please [[mailto:spf@golang.org][let me know]].

I've asked a few participants of the event to share their experiences below:

** My Contribution Experience

by [[https://twitter.com/cassandraoid][Cassandra]]

When I heard about the go-contrib workshop I was very excited and then I was extremely intimidated. I was encouraged by a member of the Go team to participate, so I thought what the heck.

As I walked into the room (let's be real, I ran into the room because I was running late) I was pleased to see the room was jam-packed. I looked around for people in Gopher caps, which was the main indicator they were teachers. I sat down at one of the 16 round tables that had two hats and three non-hats.

Brought up my screen and was ready to roll

Jess Frazelle stood up and started the presentation and provided the group with [[https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/1ap2fycBSgoo-jCswHk9lqgCIFroE1pYpsXC1ffYBCq4/edit#slide=id.p][a link]] to make it easy to follow.

.image contributor-workshop/image16.png

The murmurs grew from a deep undercurrent to a resounding melody of voices, people were getting their computers set up with Go, they were skipping ahead to make sure their GOPATH was set, and were wait what's Gerrit?

Most of us had to get a little intro to Gerrit. I had no clue what it was, but luckily there was a handy slide. Jess explained that it was an alternative to GitHub with slightly more advanced code review tools. We then went through GitHub vs Gerrit terminology, so we had better understanding of the process.

.image contributor-workshop/image10.png

Ok, now it was time to become a **freaking** *Go* **contributor****.

To make this more exciting than it already is, the Go team set up a game where we could track as a group how many points we could rack up based on the Gerrit score system.

.image contributor-workshop/image7.png

Seeing your name pop up on the board and listening to everyone's excitement was intoxicating. It also invoked a sense of teamwork that lead to a feeling of inclusion and feeling like you were truly a part of the Go community.

.image contributor-workshop/image11.png

In 6 steps a room of around 80 people were able to learn how to contribute to go within an hour. That's a feat!

It wasn't nearly as difficult as I anticipated and it wasn't out of scope for a total newbie. It fostered a sense of community in an active and tangible way as well as a sense of inclusion in the illustrious process of Go contributions.

I'd personally like to thank the Go Team, the Gopher mentors in hats, and my fellow participants for making it one of my most memorable moments at GopherCon.

** My Contribution Experience

by [\[\[https://twitter.com/mbbroberg\]\]](https://twitter.com/mbbroberg)[Matt]

I've always found programming languages to be intimidating. It's the code that enables the world to write code. Given the impact, surely smarter people than me should be working on it... but that fear was something to overcome. So when the opportunity to join a workshop to contribute to my new favorite programming language came up, I was excite to see how I could and how I could help. A month later, I'm now certain that anyone and everyone can (and should) contribute back to Go.

Here are my very verbose steps to go from 0 to 2 contributions to Go:

*** The Setup

Given Go's use of Gerrit, I started by setting up my environment for it.

[[https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/1ap2fycBSgoo-jCswHk9lqgCIFroE1pYpsXC1ffYBCq4/edit#slide=id.g1f953ef7df\_0\_9][Jess Frazzelle's guide]] is a great place to start to not miss a step.

The real fun starts when you clone the Go repo. Ironically, you don't hack on Go under `$GOPATH`, so I put it in my other workspace (which is `~/Develop`).

cd $DEV # That's my source code folder outside of $GOPATH git clone --depth 1 https://go.googlesource.com/go

Then install the handy dandy helper tool, `go-contrib-init`:

go get -u golang.org/x/tools/cmd/go-contrib-init

Now you can run `go-contrib-init` from the `go/` folder we cloned above and see whether or not we're ready to contribute. But hold on if you're following along, you're not ready just yet.

Next, install `codereview` so you can participate in a Gerrit code review:

go get -u golang.org/x/review/git-codereview

This package includes `git change` and `git mail` which will replace your normal workflow of `git commit` and `git push` respectively.

Okay, installations are out of the way. Now setup your [[<https://go-review.googlesource.com/settings/#Profile>][Gerrit account here]], then [[<https://go-review.googlesource.com/settings#Agreements>][sign the CLA]] appropriate for you (I signed a personal one for all Google projects, but choose the right option for you. You can see all CLAs you've signed at [[<https://cla.developers.google.com/cla>][cla.developers.google.com/cla]]).

AND BAM. You're good (to go)! But where to contribute?

*** Contributing

In the workshop, they sent us into the `scratch` repository, which is a safe place to fool around in order to master the workflow:

cd $(go env GOPATH)/src/golang.org/x git clone --depth 1 [[https://go.googlesource.com/scratch][go.googlesource.com/scratch]]

First stop is to `cd` in and run `go-contrib-init` to make sure you're ready to contribute:

go-contrib-init

All good. Happy hacking!

From there, I made a folder named after my GitHub account, did a ``git add -u`` then took ``git change`` for a spin. It has a hash that keeps track of your work, which is the one line you shouldn't touch. Other than that, it feels just like ``git commit``. Once I got the commit message matching the format of ``package: description`` (description begins with a lowercase), I used ``git mail`` to send it over to Gerrit.

Two good notes to take at this point: ``git change`` also works like ``git commit --amend``, so if you need to update your patch you can ``add`` then ``change`` and it will all link to the same patch. Secondly, you can always review your patch from your [\[https://go-review.googlesource.com/dashboard/\]](https://go-review.googlesource.com/dashboard/)[\[personal Gerrit dashboard\]](#)].

After a few back and forths, I officially had a contribute to Go! And if Jaana is right, it might be the first with emojis .

.image contributor-workshop/image15.png
.image contributor-workshop/image23.png

*** Contributing, For Real

The scratch repo is fun and all, but there's a ton of ways to get into the depths of Go's packages and give back. It's at this point where I cruised around the many packages available to see what was available and interesting to me. And by "cruised around" I mean attempted to find a list of packages, then went to my source code to see what's around under the ``go/src/`` folder:

.image contributor-workshop/image22.png

I decided to see what I can do in the ``regexp`` package, maybe out of love and fear of regex. Here's where I switched to the [\[https://godoc.org/regexp\]](https://godoc.org/regexp)[\[website's view of the package\]](#) (it's good to know that each standard package can be found at https://godoc.org/\$PACKAGENAME). In there I noticed that ``QuoteMeta`` was missing the same level of detailed examples other functions have (and I could use the practice using Gerrit).

.image contributor-workshop/image1.png

I started looking at ``go/src/regexp`` to try to find where to add examples and I got lost pretty quickly. Lucky for me, [\[https://twitter.com/francesc\]](https://twitter.com/francesc)[\[Francesc\]](#) was around that day. He walked me through how all examples are actually in-line tests in a ``example_test.go`` file. They follow the format of test cases followed by "Output" commented out and then the answers to the tests. For example:

func ExampleRegexp_FindString() {
    re := regexp.MustCompile("fo.?.") fmt.Printf("%q\n", re.FindString("seafood"))
```

fmt.Printf("%q\n", re.FindString("meat")) // Output:
// "foo"
// ""

Kind of cool, right?? I followed Francesc's lead and added a function `ExampleQuoteMeta` and added a few I thought would be helpful. From there it's a `git change` and `git mail` to Gerrit!

I have to say that Steve Francia challenged me to "find something that isn't an open issue and fix it," so I included some documentation changes for QuoteMeta in my patch. It's going to be open for a bit longer given the additional scope, but I think it's worth it on this one.

I can hear your question already: how did I verify it worked? Well it wasn't easy to be honest. Running `go test example_test.go -run QuoteMeta -v` won't do it since we're working outside of our $GOPATH. I struggled to figure it out until [\[\[https://medium.com/@vCabbage/go-testing-standard-library-changes-1e9cbed11339\]\]](https://medium.com/@vCabbage/go-testing-standard-library-changes-1e9cbed11339) [Kale Blakenship wrote this awesome post on testing in Go].

Bookmark this one for later.

You can see my completed [\[\[https://go-review.golang.org/c/49130/\]\]](https://go-review.golang.org/c/49130/) [contribution here]. What I also hope you see is how simple it is to get into the flow of contributing. If you're like me, you'll be good at finding a small typo or missing example in the docs to start to get used to the `git codereview` workflow. After that, you'll be ready to find an open issue, ideally one [\[\[https://github.com/golang/go/milestones\]\]](https://github.com/golang/go/milestones) [tagged for an upcoming release], and give it a go. No matter what you choose to do, definitely go forth and do it. The Go team proved to me just how much they care about helping us all contribute back. I can't wait for my next `git mail`.

** My Mentorship Experience

by [\[\[https://twitter.com/shurcool\]\]](https://twitter.com/shurcool) [Dmitri]

I was looking forward to participating in the Contribution Workshop event as a mentor. I had high expectations for the event, and thought it was a great idea before it started.

I made my first contribution to Go on May 10th, 2014. I remember it was about four months from the moment I wanted to contribute, until that day, when I actually sent my first CL. It took that long to build up the courage and fully commit to figuring out the process. I was an experienced software engineer at the time. Despite that, the Go contribution process felt alien being unlike all other processes I was already familiar with and therefore seemed intimidating. It was well documented though, so I knew it would be just a matter of finding the time, sitting down, and doing it. The "unknown" factor kept me from giving it a shot.

After a few months passed, I thought "enough is enough," and decided to dedicate an entire day of an upcoming weekend to figuring out the process. I set aside all of Saturday for doing one thing: sending my first CL to Go. I opened up [\[\[https://golang.org/doc/contribute.html\]\]](https://golang.org/doc/contribute.html) [\[the Contribution Guide\]](#) and started following all the steps, from the very top. Within an hour, I was done. I had send my first CL. I was both in awe and shock. In awe, because I had finally sent a contribution to Go, and it was accepted! In shock, because, why did I wait so long to finally do this? Following the steps in [\[\[https://golang.org/doc/contribute.html\]\]](https://golang.org/doc/contribute.html) [\[the Contribution Guide\]](#) was very easy, and the entire process went completely smoothly. If only someone had told me that I'd be done within an hour and nothing would go wrong, I would've done it much sooner!

Which brings me to this event and why I thought it was such a good idea. For anyone who ever wanted to contribute to Go, but felt daunted by the unfamiliar and seemingly lengthy process (like I was during those four months), this was their chance! Not only is it easy to commit to figuring it out by attending the event, but also the Go team and helpful volunteer mentors would be there to help you along the way.

Despite the already high expectations I had for the event, my expectations were exceeded. For one, the Go team had prepared really well and invested a lot in making the event that much more enjoyable for everyone. There was a very fun presentation that went over all the contributing steps quickly. There was a dashboard made for the event, where everyone's successfully completed steps were rewarded with points towards a global score. That made it into a very collaborative and social event! Finally, and most importantly, they were Go team members like Brad Fitzpatrick behind the scenes, helping review CLs promptly! That meant the CLs that were submitted received reviews quickly, with actionable next steps, so everyone could move forward and learn more.

I originally anticipated the event to be somewhat dull, in that the contribution steps are extremely simple to follow. However, I found that wasn't always the case, and I was able to use my expertise in Go to help out people who got stuck in various unexpected places. It turns out, the real world is filled with edge cases. For instance, someone had two git emails, one personal and another for work. There was a delay with signing the CLA for the work email, so they tried to use their personal email instead. That meant each commit had to be amended to use the right email, something the tools didn't take into account. (Luckily, there is a troubleshooting section in the contribution guide covering this exact issue!) There were other subtle mistakes or environment misconfiguration that some people ran into, because having more than one Go installation was a bit unusual. Sometimes, the GOROOT environment variable had to be explicitly set, temporarily, to get godoc to show changes in the right standard library (I was tongue-in-cheek looking over my shoulder to check for Dave Cheney as I uttered those words).

Overall, I oversaw a few new gophers make their first Go contributions. They sent the CLs, responded to review feedback, made edits, iterated until everyone was happy, and eventually saw their first Go contributions get merged to master! It was very rewarding to see the happiness on their faces, because the joy of making one's first contribution is something I can relate to myself. It was also great to be able to help them out, and explain tricky situations that they sometimes found themselves. From what I can tell, many happy gophers walked away from the event, myself included!

* Introduction

The day before GopherCon, a group of Go team members and contributors gathered in Denver to discuss and plan for the future of the Go project.

This was the first ever event of its kind, a major milestone for the Go project.

The event comprised a morning session revolving around focused discussions on a theme, and an afternoon session made up of round table discussions in small break-out groups.

** Compiler and runtime

The compiler and runtime session started out with a discussion about refactoring ``gc`` and related tools into importable packages.

This would reduce overhead in the core tools and in IDEs which could embed the compiler themselves to do quick syntax checking.

Code could also be compiled entirely in memory, which is useful in environments that don't provide a filesystem, or to run tests continually while you develop to get a live report of breakages.

More discussion about whether or not to pursue this line of work will most likely be brought up on the mailing lists in the future.

There was also a great deal of discussion around bridging the gap between optimized assembly code and Go.

Most crypto code in Go is written in assembly for performance reasons; this makes it hard to debug, maintain, and read.

Furthermore, once you've ventured into writing assembly, you often can't call back into Go, limiting code reuse.

A rewrite in Go would make maintenance easier.

Adding processor intrinsics and better support for 128-bit math would improve Go's crypto performance.

It was proposed that the new ``math/bits`` package coming in 1.9 could be expanded for this purpose.

Not being all that familiar with the development of the compiler and runtime, this for me was one of the more interesting sessions of the day.

I learned a lot about the current state of the world, the problems, and where people want to go from here.

** Dependency management

After a quick update from the [\[\[https://github.com/golang/dep\]\]](https://github.com/golang/dep) team on the status of the project, the dependency management session gravitated towards how the Go world will work once dep (or something dep-like) becomes the primary means of package management.

Work to make Go easier to get started with and make dep easier to use has already started.

In Go 1.8, a default value for `GOPATH` was introduced, meaning users will only have to add Go's bin directory to their `$PATH` before they can get started with dep.

Another future usability improvement that dep might enable, is allowing Go to work from any directory (not just a workspace in the `GOPATH`), so that people can use the directory structures and workflows they're used to using with other languages.

It may also be possible to make `go install` easier in the future by guiding users through the process of adding the bin directory to their path, or even automating the process.

There are many good options for making the Go tooling easier to use, and discussion will likely continue on the mailing lists.

** The standard library

The discussions we had around the future of the Go language are mostly covered in Russ Cox's blog post: [\[\[https://blog.golang.org/toward-go2\]\]](https://blog.golang.org/toward-go2)[\[\[Toward Go 2\]\]](#), so let's move on to the standard library session.

As a contributor to the standard library and subrepos, this session was particularly interesting to me.

What goes in the standard library and subrepos, and how much it can change, is a topic that isn't well defined.

It can be hard on the Go team to maintain a huge number of packages when they may or may not have anyone with specific expertise in the subject matter.

To make critical fixes to packages in the standard library, one must wait 6 months for a new version of Go to ship (or a point release has to be shipped in the case of security issues, which drains team resources).

Better dependency management may facilitate the migration of some packages out of the standard library and into their own projects with their own release schedules.

There was also some discussion about things that are difficult to achieve with the interfaces in the standard library.

For instance, it would be nice if `io.Reader` accepted a context so that blocking read operations could be canceled.

More [\[\[https://golang.org/wiki/experiencereports\]\]](https://golang.org/wiki/experiencereports)[\[\[experience reports\]\]](#) are necessary before we can determine what will change in the standard library.

** Tooling and editors

A language server for editors to use was a hot topic in the tooling session, with a number of people advocating for IDE and tool developers to adopt a common "Go Language Server" to index and display information about code and packages. Microsoft's [\[\[https://www.github.com/Microsoft/language-server-protocol\]\]](https://www.github.com/Microsoft/language-server-protocol) [Language Server Protocol] was suggested as a good starting point because of its wide support in editors and IDEs.

Jaana Burcu Dogan also discussed her work on distributed tracing and how information about runtime events could be made easier to acquire and attached to traces.

Having a standard "counter" API to report statistics was proposed, but specific experience reports from the community will be required before such an API can be designed.

** The contributor experience

The final session of the day was on the contributor experience.

The first discussion was all about how the current Gerrit workflow could be made easier for new contributors which has already resulted in improvements to the documentation for several repos, and influenced the new contributors workshop a few days later!

Making it easier to find tasks to work on, empowering users to perform gardening tasks on the issue tracker, and making it easier to find reviewers were also considered.

Hopefully we'll see improvements to these and many more areas of the contribution process in the coming weeks and months!

** Breakout sessions

In the afternoon, participants broke out into smaller groups to have more in-depth discussions about some of the topics from the morning session.

These discussions had more specific goals.

For example, one group worked on identifying the useful parts of an experience report and a list of existing literature documenting Go user experiences, resulting in the experience report [\[\[https://golang.org/wiki/experiencereports\]\]](https://golang.org/wiki/experiencereports) [wiki page].

Another group considered the future of errors in Go.

Many Go users are initially confused by, or don't understand the fact that `error` is an interface, and it can be difficult to attach more information to errors without masking sentinel errors such as `io.EOF`.

The breakout session discussed specific ways it might be possible to fix some of these issues in upcoming Go releases, but also ways error handling could be improved in Go 2.

* Community

Outside of the technical discussions, the summit also provided an opportunity for a group of people from all over the world who often talk and work together to meet in person, in many cases for the first time.

There is no substitute for a little face-to-face time to build a sense of mutual respect and comradeship, which is critical when a diverse group with different backgrounds and ideas needs to come together to work in a single community.

During the breaks, Go team members dispersed themselves among the contributors for discussions both about Go and a little general socialization, which really helped to put faces to the names that review our code every day.

As Russ discussed in [\[\[https://blog.golang.org/toward-go2\]\]](https://blog.golang.org/toward-go2)[\[Toward Go 2\]](#), communicating effectively requires knowing your audience.

Having a broad sample of Go contributors in a room together helped us all to understand the Go audience better and start many productive discussions about the future of Go.

Going forward, we hope to do more frequent events like this to facilitate discourse and a sense of community.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR USE, REPRODUCTION, AND DISTRIBUTION

1. Definitions.

"License" shall mean the terms and conditions for use, reproduction, and distribution as defined by Sections 1 through 9 of this document.

"Licensor" shall mean the copyright owner or entity authorized by the copyright owner that is granting the License.

"Legal Entity" shall mean the union of the acting entity and all other entities that control, are controlled by, or are under common control with that entity. For the purposes of this definition, "control" means (i) the power, direct or indirect, to cause the direction or management of such entity, whether by contract or otherwise, or (ii) ownership of fifty percent (50%) or more of the outstanding shares, or (iii) beneficial ownership of such entity.

"You" (or "Your") shall mean an individual or Legal Entity exercising permissions granted by this License.

"Source" form shall mean the preferred form for making modifications, including but not limited to software source code, documentation source, and configuration files.

"Object" form shall mean any form resulting from mechanical transformation or translation of a Source form, including but not limited to compiled object code, generated documentation, and conversions to other media types.

"Work" shall mean the work of authorship, whether in Source or Object form, made available under the License, as indicated by a copyright notice that is included in or attached to the work (an example is provided in the Appendix below).

"Derivative Works" shall mean any work, whether in Source or Object form, that is based on (or derived from) the Work and for which the editorial revisions, annotations, elaborations, or other modifications represent, as a whole, an original work of authorship. For the purposes of this License, Derivative Works shall not include works that remain separable from, or merely link (or bind by name) to the interfaces of, the Work and Derivative Works thereof.

"Contribution" shall mean any work of authorship, including the original version of the Work and any modifications or additions to that Work or Derivative Works thereof, that is intentionally submitted to Licensor for inclusion in the Work by the copyright owner or by an individual or Legal Entity authorized to submit on behalf of the copyright owner. For the purposes of this definition, "submitted" means any form of electronic, verbal, or written communication sent to the Licensor or its representatives, including but not limited to communication on electronic mailing lists, source code control systems, and issue tracking systems that are managed by, or on behalf of, the Licensor for the purpose of discussing and improving the Work, but excluding communication that is conspicuously marked or otherwise designated in writing by the copyright owner as "Not a Contribution."

"Contributor" shall mean Licensor and any individual or Legal Entity on behalf of whom a Contribution has been received by Licensor and subsequently incorporated within the Work.

2. Grant of Copyright License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable copyright license to reproduce, prepare Derivative Works of, publicly display, publicly perform, sublicense, and distribute the Work and such Derivative Works in Source or Object form.
3. Grant of Patent License. Subject to the terms and conditions of this License, each Contributor hereby grants to You a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, no-charge, royalty-free, irrevocable (except as stated in this section) patent license to make, have made, use, offer to sell, sell, import, and otherwise transfer the Work, where such license applies only to those patent claims licensable by such Contributor that are necessarily infringed by their Contribution(s) alone or by combination of their Contribution(s) with the Work to which such Contribution(s) was submitted. If You institute patent litigation against any entity (including a cross-claim or counterclaim in a lawsuit) alleging that the Work or a Contribution incorporated within the Work constitutes direct or contributory patent infringement, then any patent licenses granted to You under this License for that Work shall terminate as of the date such litigation is filed.
4. Redistribution. You may reproduce and distribute copies of the Work or Derivative Works thereof in any medium, with or without modifications, and in Source or Object form, provided that You meet the following conditions:
  - (a) You must give any other recipients of the Work or Derivative Works a copy of this License; and
  - (b) You must cause any modified files to carry prominent notices stating that You changed the files; and
  - (c) You must retain, in the Source form of any Derivative Works that You distribute, all copyright, patent, trademark, and attribution notices from the Source form of the Work, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works; and

(d) If the Work includes a "NOTICE" text file as part of its distribution, then any Derivative Works that You distribute must include a readable copy of the attribution notices contained within such NOTICE file, excluding those notices that do not pertain to any part of the Derivative Works, in at least one of the following places: within a NOTICE text file distributed as part of the Derivative Works; within the Source form or documentation, if provided along with the Derivative Works; or, within a display generated by the Derivative Works, if and wherever such third-party notices normally appear. The contents of the NOTICE file are for informational purposes only and do not modify the License. You may add Your own attribution notices within Derivative Works that You distribute, alongside or as an addendum to the NOTICE text from the Work, provided that such additional attribution notices cannot be construed as modifying the License.

You may add Your own copyright statement to Your modifications and may provide additional or different license terms and conditions for use, reproduction, or distribution of Your modifications, or for any such Derivative Works as a whole, provided Your use, reproduction, and distribution of the Work otherwise complies with the conditions stated in this License.

5. Submission of Contributions. Unless You explicitly state otherwise, any Contribution intentionally submitted for inclusion in the Work by You to the Licensor shall be under the terms and conditions of this License, without any additional terms or conditions.

Notwithstanding the above, nothing herein shall supersede or modify the terms of any separate license agreement you may have executed with Licensor regarding such Contributions.

6. Trademarks. This License does not grant permission to use the trade names, trademarks, service marks, or product names of the Licensor, except as required for reasonable and customary use in describing the origin of the Work and reproducing the content of the NOTICE file.

7. Disclaimer of Warranty. Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, Licensor provides the Work (and each Contributor provides its Contributions) on an "AS IS" BASIS, WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied, including, without limitation, any warranties or conditions of TITLE, NON-INFRINGEMENT, MERCHANTABILITY, or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. You are solely responsible for determining the appropriateness of using or redistributing the Work and assume any risks associated with Your exercise of permissions under this License.

8. Limitation of Liability. In no event and under no legal theory, whether in tort (including negligence), contract, or otherwise, unless required by applicable law (such as deliberate and grossly negligent acts) or agreed to in writing, shall any Contributor be liable to You for damages, including any direct, indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages of any character arising as a result of this License or out of the use or inability to use the Work (including but not limited to damages for loss of goodwill, work stoppage, computer failure or malfunction, or any and all other commercial damages or losses), even if such Contributor has been advised of the possibility of such damages.

9. Accepting Warranty or Additional Liability. While redistributing the Work or Derivative Works thereof, You may choose to offer, and charge a fee for, acceptance of support, warranty, indemnity, or other liability obligations and/or rights consistent with this License. However, in accepting such obligations, You may act only on Your own behalf and on Your sole responsibility, not on behalf of any other Contributor, and only if You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold each Contributor harmless for any liability incurred by, or claims asserted against, such Contributor by reason of your accepting any such warranty or additional liability.

END OF TERMS AND CONDITIONS

APPENDIX: How to apply the Apache License to your work.

To apply the Apache License to your work, attach the following boilerplate notice, with the fields enclosed by brackets "{}" replaced with your own identifying information. (Don't include the brackets!) The text should be enclosed in the appropriate comment syntax for the file format. We also recommend that a file or class name and description of purpose be included on the same "printed page" as the copyright notice for easier identification within third-party archives.
